Re: Application for Role Title

Dear Hiring Manager Name,

[Hook: one specific fact about the company from the posting or its news, such as a product, launch, market move or problem.] [Bridge: one sentence tying it to me, e.g. "Taking a physical product and its software to market together is exactly what I do at NOWN."]

I own a product from first requirement to launch. At NOWN, a design and architecture studio in Amsterdam, the CEO gave me an interior ceiling and wall system that ships with its own software configurator. I wrote the requirements, managed the developer building the configurator, took the product through production and led the go-to-market. I now run the launch of a second product line, with prioritised launch waves, a risk log and clear decision rights for every stakeholder.

I decide with evidence. At ChatLicense, a pre-launch EdTech start-up, I was the first employee and built the app with the co-founders: user flows and gamification in Figma with the development agency, interviews with parents, and tests in schools across the Netherlands that changed the product before launch. At NOWN I found that 83,000 monthly site searches and our main conversion had never been tracked, and wrote the fix plan that connects marketing to real sample and quote requests.

I lead people across disciplines and cultures. I work in English, Arabic and French, and my clients have always been international: Mitsubishi, Oman's national energy company OQ and Songwon at EMG, architects and specifiers across EMEA at NOWN. I direct designers, developers, animators, production teams and freelancers, often without formal authority, and at EMG I took on budgets and pricing when my manager moved on.

I'd like to bring that to Company Name. My case studies are at essiazarroukzarrouk2001-alt.github.io/essia-portfolio, and I'm happy to walk you through any of them.

Best regards,

Essia Zarrouk
